The Visa Function

One of the important functions of the Foreign Service of the United States is the administration abroad of our immigration laws. Congress first charged consular officers with the responsibility of issuing visas to certain aliens in the Act of July 5, 1884. In 1917 a general requirement that all aliens seeking to enter the United States obtain visas was instituted and has been continued since that time under successive immigration laws. With certain exceptions, therefore, aliens desiring to come to the United States are required to obtain appropriate visas from U.S. consular officers stationed at some 250 Foreign Service posts throughout the world.

Although consular officers are directly responsible under the law for issuance or refusal of visas, the Department of State is responsible for the general administration of the responsibilities vested by the immigration laws in the Department and the Foreign Service. In fulfilling this responsibility, the Department's Visa Office in the Bureau of Consular Affairs prepares regulations which are published in the Federal Register, instructs consular officers regarding interpretations of law, establishes standardized procedures, provides on-the-spot guidance through regional conferences, workshops, and field trips, and furnishes advisory opinions concerning all phases of visa work. A review procedure is set in motion by consular requests for the Department's advice on material points of law, or when the Department requests a report from a consular post with a view to determining whether the action taken or proposed in a specific case is in accordance with the applicable provisions of the law. Although the vast majority of visas are issued at overseas posts, a few categories of nonimmigrant visas may be issued or revalidated by the Diplomatic Liaison Division of the Visa Office.

For many people in foreign lands, the call at the American consular office is the first personal contact with the United States. A courteous reception by an American official, and fair and reasonable attention to the application for a visa, serve to create an atmosphere of good will and help to promote our foreign relations.

In recent years successive Presidents have stressed the importance of facilitating international travel. The procedures for the issuance of visas to persons wishing to visit the United States have been made as simple as possible; every effort is made to expedite the necessary action; and, in many cases, the personal appearance of the applicant is not required. Before a visa is issued, an applicant's written application is reviewed or the applicant is interviewed by a consular officer to determine eligibility for a visa appropriate to the purpose of the planned journey to the United States. If necessary, documentary evidence is requested to establish that the applicant intends to return to a residence abroad, does not come within any of the excludable classes, and has adequate financial resources for the proposed journey. To further facilitate the travel of nonimmigrants, visas are issued incorporating the most liberal provisions possible regarding validity and fees on the basis of reciprocity, that is, the treatment accorded by the applicant's country to U.S. citizens. Valid visas may be transferred from an expired passport to a new passport. Necessary clearance procedures are handled as expeditiously as possible.

Applicants who are entitled to one of the immigrant classifications and who are chargeable to an oversubscribed foreign state or category are registered on waiting lists, in the order in which they have qualified, to establish a priority for consideration when visa numbers become available. Although nonpreference and those who had applied for status under the Western Hemisphere category are accorded the date on which they have met the labor certification requirement of the Immigration and Nationality Act, which is prerequisite for those classifications, by law the priority date for preference applicants is that on which the petition to establish a preference was filed with the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service primarily, the U.S. Public Health Service, and the Department of Labor, and other agencies to a lesser extent, share in the administration of the immigration laws.

The jurisdictions of those agencies are complementary in most respects, and close liaison is maintained between and among them and the Department of State to insure a uniform intrepretation of the law and to coordinate practices. Officers of the Immigration and Naturalization Service are stationed at a number of Foreign Service posts abroad to carry out more effectively certain functions that come within the Service's area of responsibility.

In preparation for their visa duties abroad, consular officers take a course in visa instructions at the Foreign Service Institute as part of their basic Foreign Service training. An advanced consular course for experienced officers is also offered. A correspondence course in visa work is also available for officers and clerical personnel assigned to overseas posts.

Summary

This Report of the Visa Office is a compilation of statistical data for fiscal year 1983 (October 1, 1982–September 30, 1983).

This Report includes information on all visa issuances by consular offices and on the use of visa numbers in the numerically limited categories. The sources of information in this report are workload reports from visa-issuing offices abroad and immigrant visa allocation records maintained in the Visa Office.

The Visa Office report shows visa services only and does not contain information on refugees or figures on adjustments to permanent resident status granted by the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS).

When demand for preference immigrant numbers exceeds the annual limitation set by law for a foreign state (20,000) or dependent area (600), the area is considered oversubscribed. The following countries were oversubscribed during fiscal year 1983; China (mainland born), India, Korea, Mexico, and the Philippines. Also oversubscribed were the following British dependencies: Hong Kong, and St. Christopher-Nevis, Jamaica, oversubscribed at the beginning of the fiscal year, was removed from the oversubscribed list in January. During fiscal year 1983, China (mainland born), Korea, Mexico, Philippines, Hong Kong and St. Christopher-Nevis chargeabilities were subject to the provisions of Section 202(e) of the Immigration and Nationality Act. This section of law makes preference numbers available to each preference category in accordance with specified percentages. (See Appendix A, Section II(C)(4) for percentage breakdown.) For oversubscribed areas not subject to the provisions of Section 202(e) numbers are made available in preference class order until the area limit is reached.

As a general rule, persons temporarily in the United States who wish to apply for an immigrant visa submit their application to the consular office located in the area of their last foreign residence. Applicants who meet the following criteria may also qualify for the stateside criteria processing program (SCP):

- The applicant must be ineligible for adjustment of status;
- The applicant must have received permission from the Immigration and Naturalization Service to remain in the United States during the processing of his/her application; and
- The applicant must be in one of the following categories:
  - a beneficiary of an approved immediate relative, first or second preference petition; or
  - the spouse or unmarried minor child of the beneficiary of a first/second preference petition; or
  - a person granted status as a refugee by the Immigration and Naturalization Service AND who is entitled to an immigrant status in the third, fourth, fifth, or sixth, or non-preference classes.

Under this program applicants have the option of having their case processed at a post in a country contiguous to the United States. In the past this processing was limited to posts in Canada (Calgary, Montreal, Toronto, and Vancouver).

Effective June 1, 1983, however, the stateside criteria processing program was restructured to include posts in Mexico (Ciudad Juarez and Tijuana). This administrative adjustment was necessitated by sharp increases in the stateside criteria caseload.

Immigrants

The number of immigrant visas issued at offices abroad in fiscal year 1983 totaled 338,025, an increase of 19,213 or 6.0% over the fiscal year 1982 figure.

On a regional basis the following variations are noted: Europe down 976 (-3.0%), Asia up 7,220 (+5.3%), Africa down 115 (-2.0%), North America up 11,818 (+10.0%), South America up 1,409 (+5.5%) and Oceania down 143 (-6.9%).

Immigrants from Asia represented 42.1% of the total visa issuances, with North America following with 38.5%.

Classes of Immigrants

Immigrants may be divided into two broad categories: those who are in classes subject to numerical limitations, and those in classes for which there are no numerical restrictions.

Classes Not Subject to Limitations

The classes not subject to numerical limitations include: "Immediate Relatives" of U.S. citizens—defined as spouse, child, orphan adopted or to be adopted, and parent (if the citizen is at least 21 years of age), and "Special Immigrants" defined as returning resident aliens, ministers of religion, certain former government employees, some categories of expatriates. Also not subject to such limitations are the beneficiaries of certain kinds of petitions filed prior to 1962 and 1961. (Visas in this last class are rare.)

The majority of visas in this non-limited category are issued to immediate relatives. During fiscal year 1983, the total number of immediate relative visas issued at overseas post increased by 8,464 or 8.2% to a total of 111,742.

Immediate Relative Visas Issued at Offices Abroad

Numerically Limited Classes

Panama Canal Act Special Immigrant Categories. The Panama Canal Act of 1979 (P.L. 96-70) provides for the admission of 15,000 former employees of the Panama Canal Company or Canal Zone Government, at an annual rate of no more than 5,000. The total number of visas issued in this category during fiscal year 1983 was 112. Numbers made available to the Immigration and Naturalization Service for adjustment cases totaled 1.

Since the beginning of issuances in this category in 1980 through the end of FY 1983, the total numbers used were 1,716.

Preference and Nonpreference Categories. Most immigrant visas are issued to persons in the preference classes subject to numerical limitation. A description of these classes can be found in Appendix A, Section II(C)(4).

For fiscal year 1983 all 270,000 immigrant numbers within the annual limitation were used. Foreign Service posts abroad used approximately 82% of these numbers with the balance being used by the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

As has been the case since the end of fiscal year 1978, the demand for visas by preference applicants was sufficiently heavy to use all numbers, making the nonpreference category unavailable.

Once a year in January, all immigrant visa-issuing offices abroad submit a report of pending registrants in the numerically limited classes. Total active registrants as of January 1983 were 1,411,151, an increase of 234,168 (nearly 20%) over the 1,176,983 registrations reported in January 1982. Although all categories showed some increase, 207,702 of the additional applicants were in the fifth preference category.

A breakdown by preference of the registered applicants is as follows:

- First Preference increased 1,746 (31%) to 7,396.
- Second Preference increased 23,662 (11%) to 238,331. Figures showed the greatest growth for Mexico (10,664) and Vietnam (5,415).
- Third Preference increased 2,125 (9.5%) to 24,454. More than 75% of the registrants in this category were for the Philippines chargeability. It should be noted, however, that 70% of the third preference cases are processed by INS rather than at consular offices. INS figures are not included in VO registration totals.
- Fourth Preference increased 4,288 (6.8%) to 67,107. Mexico was up 4,002.
- Fifth Preference increased 207,702 (30.1%) to 897,170. Most chargeabilities showed an increase, with particularly large increases in several countries where immigrant demand has been heavy in recent years.
- Sixth Preference increased 930 (3.1%) to 30,568. Note that almost 40% of the sixth preference cases are processed by INS rather than at Foreign Service posts.
- Nonpreference, the only category showing a decrease, was down 6,285 (4.3%) to 146,125. The decrease in Mexican-born registered applicants in this category was 4,848, possibly because these applicants have qualified for preference visas during the past year.

Adjustments of FY 1983 Foreign State Limitation

Section 20 of the "Immigration and Nationality Act Amendments of 1981" amended Section 201(a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act to stipulate that "to the extent that in a particular fiscal year the number of aliens who are issued immigrant visas or who otherwise acquire the status of . . . permanent residence, and who are subject to the numerical limitations of this Section, together with the aliens who adjust their status to . . . permanent residence pursuant to Subparagraph (H) of Section 101(a)(27) [i.e. certain foreign medical graduates and accompanying spouses and children] or Section 19 of the Immigration and Nationality Act Amendments of

Potential and Actual Distribution of Immigrant Visa Numbers by Preference Class

1981 [i.e. certain investors who had applied for adjustment of status], exceed the annual numerical limitation . . . [270,000], the Secretary of State shall reduce to such extent the annual numerical limitation . . . for the following fiscal year."

For FY 1982, all immigrant numbers within the annual limitation were made available to preference applicants, but some were returned unused after the end of the fiscal year. In view of these unused numbers, the total of visa issuances and adjustments of status in the various immigrant categories stipulated above did not exceed the 270,000 annual limitation for FY 1982. Therefore, no reduction in the worldwide limitation numerical limitation for FY 1983 was necessary.

The Visa Office was notified of 360 applicants who acquired permanent resident status in FY 1983 under Section 101(a)(27)(H), and 126 who acquired status under Section 19 of the 1981 Act. Since there were no unused numbers in fiscal year 1983, the annual limitation for FY 1984 will therefore be reduced by 486 to 269,514.

Section 20 of the 1981 Act also amended 202(a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act to stipulate that "to the extent that in a particular fiscal year the number of [natives of a particular foreign state] who are issued immigrant visas or who may otherwise acquire the status of . . . permanent residence and who are subject to the numerical limitation of [Section 202(a) of the INA], together with the aliens from the same foreign state who adjust their status to . . . permanent residence pursuant to Subparagraph (H) of Section 101(a)(27) or Section 19 of the Immigration and Nationality Act Amendments of 1981, exceed the numerical limitation [for the foreign state, i.e. 20,000], the Secretary of State shall reduce to such extent the numerical limitation in effect for the natives of the same foreign state pursuant to this Section for the following fiscal year."

China (mainland born). For FY 1982, there were no unused immigrant numbers within the annual limitation for the China (mainland born) chargeability. The Visa Office has been notified of 13 applicants chargeable to this area who acquired permanent resident status in FY 1982 under Section 19 of the 1981 Act, but none under Section 101(a)(27)(H). The FY 1983 limitation for China (mainland born) chargeability was therefore reduced to 19,987.

Philippines. There were 344 unused immigrant numbers within the annual limitation for the Philippines, due to allocations within the preference categories returned unused after the end of FY 1982. The Visa Office has been notified of 1,053 applicants chargeable to this area who acquired permanent resident status in FY 1982 under Section 101(a)(27)(H) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, but none under Section 19 of the 1981 Act. The FY 1983 limitation for the Philippines chargeability was therefore reduced to 19,291.

No other FY 1983 chargeability area limitations needed to be reduced.

Nonimmigrant Visas

The FY 1983 total of nonimmigrant visa issuances, revalidations and border-crossing cards issued at Foreign Service posts was 5,566,815, a 834,687 (-13%) decrease from last year. Once again worldwide economic factors and the strength of the dollar, as well as efforts by the Department to amend the NIV reciprocity schedules to permit visa issuance for the maximum possible validity period, explain this decrease.

About 37% of the nonimmigrant visas issued were to European nationals and 33% to Asians. Visitor (B) visas accounted for approximately 87% of the nonimmigrant visas issued. Visas issued to ten nationalities, Japan, Great Britain, Mexico, West Germany, France, Italy, Australia, the Netherlands, Brazil, and Venezuela, accounted for more than half (about 56.5%) of the total issuances.

Country and Foreign Service Post Changes During FY 1983.

On September 19, 1983, St. Christopher-Nevis became the independent state of St. Christopher and Nevis. As an independent state, the annual limitation was increased from 600 to 20,000.

During fiscal year 1983, a Consulate was opened in Brisbane, Australia, visa services resumed in Barranquilla, Colombia and services began at Goteborg, Sweden.

[1]The total grounds for refusal may exceed the total number of applicants refused a visa because one applicant may be refused under more than one section of the Immigration and Nationality Act. Also, an applicant can be refused more than one time in a fiscal year.
[2]The total refusals overcome may not represent the same visa applicants as those recorded in the totals of refusals. A visa may be refused in one fiscal year and the refusal overcome in a subsequent fiscal year. Each action will be separately recorded as part of the appropriate statistical report for the year in which it occurred.
A refusal can be overcome by evidence that the ineligibility does not apply, by approval of a waiver, or by other relief as provided by law.

Provisions of the Law and Numerical Limitations on Immigrant Visas

Some form of numerical limitation has been imposed on immigration into the United States since 1921, although certain classes of immigrants have traditionally been able to obtain visas outside of these limitations. Outlined below are the basic elements of the system applicable in FY 1983:

I. Classes not subject to the numerical limitations:
   A. Immediate Relatives
      1. Spouse and children of U.S. citizens and parents of citizens over the age of 21; (Sec. 201(b)).
   B. Special Immigrants
      1. Returning residents; (Sec. 101(a)(27)(A)).
      2. Certain former U.S. citizens; (Sec. 101(a)(27)(B)).
      3. Ministers of religion and the spouse and children of such immigrants; (Sec. 101(a)(27)(C)).
      4. Certain employees or former employees of the U.S. Government abroad and the accompanying spouse and children of such immigrants; (Sec. 101(a)(27)(D)).
   C. Special K Classes
      Beneficiaries of certain preference petitions filed prior to 1961 and 1962, their spouses and children; (Sec. 25(a), Act of September 26, 1961; Sec. 2, Act of October 24, 1962; Sec. 1, Act of October 24, 1962.)

II. Numerically limited categories:
   A. Special Immigrant Categories
      1. The Panama Canal Act of 1979 (P.L. 96-70) provides for the admission of certain former employees of the Panama Canal Company or Canal Zone Government. The Act provided for the admission of 15,000 immigrants but limits the rate to 5,000 annually.
   B. Special Immigrant Doctors
      The law provides for special immigrant status to the spouses and children of certain medical doctors granted adjustment of status in the U.S. While there is no numerical limit for this category, otherwise unused numbers are assigned to this category or they are subtracted from the annual limitation for the subsequent year.
   C. Preference/Nonpreference Categories:
      1. Numerical limitations: 270,000 per annum; not more than 20,000 per foreign state; not more than 600 per dependent area (Section 201 and 202).
      2. As a selective mechanism to enable distribution of the numbers to the immigrants desired, a system of six preference classes exists: Four (1, 2, 4, and 5) based on relationship to U.S. citizens or resident aliens, two (3 and 6) based on need for labor (Section 203).
      3. Applicability of section 212(a)(14) is explicitly restricted to applicants within the 3d, 6th, and nonpreference categories.
      4. Preference system (percentages applied against annual limitation);
         a. First preference: Unmarried sons and daughters of U.S. citizens: Not more than 20% of the overall annual limitation in any fiscal year.
         b. Second preference: Spouse and unmarried sons and daughters of alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence: 26% of the overall limitation, plus any not required for first preference.
         c. Third preference: Members of the professions and scientists and artists of exceptional ability: Not more than 10% of the overall limitation.
         d. Fourth preference: Married sons and daughters of U.S. citizens: 10% of the overall limitation, plus any not required for the first three preferences.
         e. Fifth preference: Brothers and sisters of U.S. citizens: 24% of the overall limitation plus any not required for the first four preferences.
         f. Sixth preference: Skilled and unskilled workers in occupations for which labor is in short supply in the United States: 10% of the overall limitation.
         g. Nonpreference: Any applicant not entitled to one of the above preferences: Any numbers not required for preference applicants.
         h. The spouse and child of any preference applicant may be classified within the same preference if a visa is not otherwise immediately available.
      5. Adjustment of status in the United States from nonimmigrant to that of a permanent resident may be obtained subject to certain conditions through the Immigration and Naturalization Service.
      6. Parents of resident aliens (not being entitled to a preference) are subject to section 212(a)(14).
      7. Immigrants may not enter from contiguous territory without first residing therein for 2 years unless they have arrived there on a transportation line which has an appropriate contract with the Attorney General for this purpose.

Appendix C

The Operation of the Immigrant Numerical Control System

The Department of State is responsible for administering the provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) relating to the numerical limitations on immigrant visa issuances. This appendix explains the operation of the immigrant number allotment and control system.

I. How the System Operates

At the beginning of each month, the Visa Office (VO) receives a report from each consular post listing totals of documentarily qualified immigrant visa applicants in categories subject to numerical limitation. Cases are grouped by foreign state chargeability, preference, and priority date. No names are reported. The Immigration and Naturalization Service submits similar data to VO on a monthly basis in a consolidated report format which covers adjustment of status cases at all INS district offices in the U.S.

During the first week of each month, this documentarily qualified demand is tabulated.

VO subdivides the annual preference and foreign state limitations which are specified by the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) into 12 monthly allotments. The totals of documentarily qualified applicants reported to VO are compared each month with the numbers available for the next regular allotment.

If there are sufficient numbers in a particular category to satisfy all reported documentarily qualified demand, the category is considered "current."

Whenever the total of documentarily qualified applicants in a category exceeds the supply of numbers available for allotment for the particular month, the category is considered to be "oversubscribed" and a cut-off date is established. The cut-off date is the priority date of the first documentarily qualified applicant who could not be accommodated for a visa number. Only persons with a priority date earlier than a cut-off date are entitled to allotment of a visa number. The cut-off dates are ordinarily the 1st, 8th, 15th, and 22d of a month, since VO groups demand for numbers under these dates. (Priority dates of the first through seventh of a month are grouped under the 1st, the eighth through the fourteenth under the 8th etc.) The exception is an oversubscribed dependent area, for which demand is not grouped but rather recorded by actual priority date.

By the second week of each month, cut-off dates are set for the following month. The dates, along with visa allotments for use during that month, are immediately transmitted to consular posts and INS. The cut-off dates are simultaneously made public; VO has a recorded telephone message at (202) 632-2919 which is updated whenever new cut-off dates are set. This information is then published in VO's monthly Visa Availability Bulletin. (Requests for inclusion on the Visa Availability Bulletin mailing list may be addressed to: Visa Office, Immigrant Visa Control Division, U.S. Department of State, Washington, D.C. 20520).

II. Definition of Some Terms

Allotment: The allocation of an immigrant number to a consular office or to INS. This number may be used for visa issuance or adjustment of status, or may be returned unused to VO for reincorporation into the pool of numbers available for later allocation during the fiscal year.

Visas Made Available: Allocations minus unused numbers returned during the course of the fiscal year, through the final monthly allotment of numbers against the applicable annual limitation.

Foreign State Chargeability: Ordinarily an immigrant is chargeable for visa purposes to the numerical limitation for the foreign state or dependent area of birth. Exceptions are provided for an accompanying child (unmarried and under 21 years of age) or spouse to prevent the separation of family members, as well as for an immigrant visa applicant born in the U.S. or in a foreign state of which neither parent was a resident. (With respect to the first two exceptions, note that the term "accompanying" as defined in 22 CFR 42.1 means, in addition to someone in the physical company of the principal, an applicant who is issued an immigrant visa within 4 months of the date of visa issuance or adjustment of status of the principal, or within 4 months from the date on which the principal personally appears and registers before a consular officer abroad for the express purpose of conferring alternate foreign state chargeability upon a spouse or child.) Alternate chargeability is desireable when the visa cut-off date for the foreign state of birth of a parent or spouse is more advantageous than that of the applicant's foreign state of birth. (Ref. 22 CFR 42.51 through 42.54).

Documentarily Qualified: The applicant has obtained all documents specified by the consular officer as sufficient to meet the formal visa application requirements, and necessary processing procedures of the consular office have been completed.

III. Background Information on the System and Clarification of Some Frequently Misunderstood Points

Applicants entitled to IV status become documentarily qualified at their own initiative and convenience. By no means has every applicant with a priority date earlier than a prevailing cut-off date been processed for final visa action. On the contrary, visa allotments are made only on the basis of the total applicants reported documentarily qualified each month. Demand for visa numbers can fluctuate from one month to another, with the inevitable impact on cut-off dates.

If an applicant is reported documentarily qualified but allocation of a visa number is not possible because of a cut-off date, the demand is recorded at VO and an allocation is made as soon as the applicable cut-off date advances beyond the applicant's priority date. There is no need for such applicant to be reported a second time.

Visa numbers are always allotted for all documentarily qualified applicants with a priority date before the relevant cut-off date, as long as the case had been reported to VO in time to be included in the monthly calculation of visa availability. There is no exception to this principle. Failure of visa number receipt by the processing office could mean that the request was not dispatched in time to reach VO for the monthly allocation cycle, or that information on the request was incomplete or inaccurate (e.g., incorrect priority date).

Allocations outside the regular monthly cycle are possible in emergency or exceptional cases, but only at the request of the office processing the case. Note that should retrogression of a cut-off date be announced, extraordinary requests for numbers can be honored by VO only if the applicant's priority date is earlier than the retrogressed cut-off date.

The rate of return of unused numbers may fluctuate from month to month, just as demand may fluctuate. Fewer returned numbers than anticipated means less numbers available for subsequent reallocation. This fluctuation can cause cut-off date movement to slow, stop, or even retrogress. Retrogression is particularly possible near the end of the fiscal year as visa issuance approaches the annual limitations.

Applicability of Section 202(e): Allotments for an oversubscribed chargeability area are not necessarily prorated among the six preferences in each fiscal year. Allocation prorating is required by Section 202(e) of the INA when visas have been made available to the chargeability area limit during the preceding fiscal year. If, however, the reported demand in a certain preference is insufficient to use all numbers set aside for the preference under the terms of Section 202(e), the maximum number of visas would not be made available to the particular oversubscribed chargeability area and the prorating scheme could not apply during the following allocation year. (Note that cut-off dates for oversubscribed areas cannot be later than worldwide cut-off dates, if any, for the respective preferences.) A formal determination of the applicability of allocation prorating under Section 202(e) to an oversubscribed chargeability area is made by VO each September prior to the allocation of numbers for the first month of the new fiscal year.

VO projections of future availability: From time to time VO provides projections based upon available data and expectations. Such projections—while reflecting anticipated developments—cannot be taken as a guarantee of future availability, however. Dates must be set each month based on reported demand and available numbers.

List of American Diplomatic and Consular Offices Which Provide Visa Services
(as of September 1984)

Unless otherwise indicated, American diplomatic and consular offices listed below issue both immigrant and nonimmigrant visas. The insertion of "NIV" after a diplomatic or consular office indicates that the particular office issues nonimmigrant visas only. "IR" indicates that only "Immediate Relative" immigrant visas are issued at that post. (Foreign Service posts which are not authorized to provide visa services are not listed). The type of visa services provided by a post is occasionally subject to change.

The following symbols are used to indicate the status of each office: (E) for Embassy; (CG) for Consulate General; (C) for Consulate; (M) for Mission; (BO) for Branch Office of Embassy; and (USINT) for U.S. Interests Section.
